THE REEL GENERAL JOHNSTON REPORTED TO BE ADVANCING WITH A LARGE FORCE-UNION TROOPS CONCENTRATING TO ATTACK

IMPORTANT FROM KENTUCKY.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 16, 1861. On Wednesday afternoon Brig.-Gen. Thomas orlered Gen. Sheaf to fall back by forced marches from Camp Calvert, near London, Ky., to Danville, where the Union forces will concentrate to oppose Gen. Sydney A. Johnston, who is reported to be advancing and threatening Cincinnati, Louisville, or Lexington, with 40,000 men.

The 14th, 17th and 38th Ohio and 33d Indiana Regiments immediately took up the march, but a majority of the Tennessee Brigade refused to turn their faces backward, and it was deemed expedient to order them, with the 3d Kentucky Regiment, to return to their old camp.

Zollicoffer has united his forces with those of Johnston, leaving only a few hursired men at Comberland Gap. The ford is entirely deserted.

Our troops were at Crab Orchard Springs on Satur day merning. LOUISVILLE, Nov. 17, 1861.

A slight snow-storm, the first of the season, occurred here this morning.

The Mount Sterling Whig has a report from Thomas Turner, one of Gen. Nelson's aids, relative to the late Piketon engagement. He says that at Prestonburg the Union army divided into two columns; one under Col. Sill, via John's Creek, and the other met the enemy by another route.

At Ivy Creek, the latter had a sharp engagement In view of the intricate question of international man of parts. He is a native of this city where be Kent, "Commentaries," says: "If on making the for one hour and twenty minutes, routing the robels,

MOVEMENTS OF GEN. PRICE AND BEN McCULLOCH.

Sr. Locis, Saturdey, Nov. 18, 1861
The armies of Gen. Price and Ben McCulloch have retreated into Arkansas. It is understood they have gone to Fort Smith, where supplies have been col-lected, and Winter quarters built. Before leaving Missouri, they fired all the hav-stacks, corn-cribs,

&c., in their vicinity, to prevent our forces from ob taining forage in case we pursued them. Previous reports regarding the imminency of a battle on the 2d inst. originated in a large foraging party of Rebels on Wilson's Creek being mistaker for the advance guard of the enemy.
